Reverse Dorm Boycott Proposed; Juul Attacks Pond, Palmer, Hall

*'The Way
I See It ...'*

Thom Pat Juul (left) suggested that Deans Pond, Palmer and Hall be fired during this week's episode of the Student Government debate over the University's housing policy. After the assembly failed to override President Wally Bryan's (right) veto of the housing boycott, SC member Merrill Orsini (next to Bryan) presented a bill proposing a reverse boycott.

The Student Government Assembly Thursday night refuted the stand it took on the housing issue last week by failing to override three item-vetoes of the boycott bill by SC President Wally Bryan.

One of the vetoed items called for rescindment of the Board of Trustees Finance Policy Statement No. 9, which says that when necessary, any undergraduate, with certain exceptions, could be required to live in University housing.

Statement No. 9 would have been replaced (according to last week's SC bill) by another calling for recruitment to fill the dormitories, a sociological study of why students do not like to live in dorms, an investigation of ways to economize in dormitories and Auxiliary Services and an investigation of the bond issues involved in building dormitories.

In vetoing that section Bryan said he did so because of two lines which called for rescindment of Board of Trustees Policy Statement No. 9. He added that he was in favor of the five-part substitution, but claimed he had to veto the whole section because of the first two lines.

"I will investigate and try to implement these five points," he told the assembly.

The other two items vetoed by Bryan dealt with a student "boycott" of housing by withholding dormitory applications until the last day they are due, an action proposed in last week's SC bill.

'Injure Freshman'

In reference to those items, Bryan said, "I think a boycott of this nature could permanently injure some freshmen who don't understand what this bill is all about."

Bryan, however, signed a bill last semester that called for a rescindment of the required housing statement. That bill passed the assembly by a vote of 23-0.

The bill that Bryan vetoed Thursday passed the assembly last week by a vote of 16-6. Last night, two motions to override Bryan's vetoes failed to get the required two-thirds vote, although both received majority votes.

Following the fight over the vetoes, a bill calling for a "reverse boycott" of housing was passed. The bill was sponsored by Merrill Orsini, Monty Hall, Jim Gwinn and Thom Pat Juul.

The bill called for students to participate in the reverse boycott by turning in their housing applications on the first two days they could do so (April 1 and 2) "to show the necessity of student consent to policies affecting them."

It also requested that SC work with the housing office to speed processing of applications so students could learn if they had to live in dormitories as soon as possible.

The bill did not ask the Board of Trustees to rescind the policy statement, but it did ask for the recruitment of community college students to help fill dorms and for the sociological study of why students don't like to live in the dorms.

It also requested reports from the board on the economic measures affecting dorms and Auxiliary Services and on the bond issues involved in dorm construction.

During a heated discussion over the motions to override the vetoes, the University administration came under severe attack from Thom Pat Juul, one of the strongest supporters of the housing boycott.

Juul accused the administration of using "underhanded pressure" and "lies" to block the boycott. He said he had in his possession a petition signed by over half the members of Holmes Hall who supported the original SC boycott bill.

He said he did not dare use the petition because he had been told by one of the dormitory

Dr. Reiss Blames Middle Class For Problems Of Police, Poor

By DANIEL E. GOSSETT
Kernel Staff Writer

A consultant to the President's Commission on Law Enforcement placed equal blame on the police and middle-class Americans when he spoke to a University audience Thursday night on problems facing the police and the nation's poor people.

Dr. Albert J. Reiss, also a consultant to the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, was the third speaker in the series of colloquia "Working Solutions to the Dimensions of Poverty."

Dr. Reiss, chairman of the sociology department at the University of Michigan, first outlined some of the problems that arise from the "deterioration" of police precincts into "federalities."

"As local police precincts become more federalized and bureaucratized there is a tendency on the part of the individual policeman to deny the professionalism of his job," Dr. Reiss said.

"My definition of professionalism is the making of discretionary decisions about a client. Contrary to the opinions of the individual patrolman, the police are the most professional group in the nation because they must constantly make discretionary decisions about clients."

Mentioning "growing politicalization" of the police as a major inhibiting factor in resolving police problems, Dr. Reiss said, "Not only do policemen become involved in politics, they are breaking away from the major political parties and are joining unions and right wing reactionary groups."

"In the last election, the leaders of the Fraternal Order of Police openly endorsed the candidacy of George Wallace for president."

Dr. Reiss also condemned white middle-class citizens for not cooperating with police.

"First of all, we ask police to perform duties that do not qualify as crime prevention. Seventy percent of all calls made to the police do not involve the commission of a crime. The police is the only agency that will send someone out to resolve personal problems at any time of the day or night."

In outlining possible solutions to police problems, Dr. Reiss threw out one old concept, re-emphasized another old idea and introduced a concept of his own.

Of black policemen, he said that because of their work role, black men tend to behave like white men when they put on a police uniform.

On wages for policemen, Dr. Reiss said, "We ought to pay each patrolman $16,000 a year if we are going to ask them to risk his life every day."

On making policemen responsible to the public, the sociologist asked for "citizens receipt for service."

Dr. Reiss said that every time a patrolman detains a citizen for any reason, he should write out a citation, as is done for vehicular offenses.

According to Dr. Reiss, such a policy would put a record of whatever a policeman does in the hands of the citizen involved and in the hands of police officials.

Mrs. Brown Denies She Is Black

By SUE ANNE SALMON
Kernel Staff Writer

A former member of the Communist Party who worked as an "undercover agent" for the FBI denied at UK Tuesday that she is "black" and explained she is "a member of the Negro race."

Sponsored by the campus chapter of Young Americans for Freedom (YAF), Mrs. Julia Brown gave a short briefing on her background and for about an hour answered questions of the 30 persons she spoke to in the Student Center.

A native of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Brown in 1947 was a campaign worker for Albert Young, a bakery union leader who lost a race for city councilman in Cleveland.

"Evidently, the people of my ward knew more about him than I did," she said, implying the union leader was a Communist.

As a result of her campaign work, Mrs. Brown said she was asked to join a civil rights organization in Cleveland in December 1947.

She explained how she signed a paper to join the Civil Rights Congress and received what she believed to be a membership card in the organization.

The next day when she read the card, Mrs. Brown said she discovered it was a membership card for the Communist party.

"I called a lady and asked her why I had received a membership card for the Communist party. She answered that the Civil Rights Congress was a Communist front," Mrs. Brown said.

Claiming she then had no knowledge of the Communist party, the speaker said she attended closed Communist meetings four or five times a week, subscribed to a Communist newspaper and went to "a private Communist school."

"My instinct told me something was wrong," Mrs. Brown gave as her reason for informing the FBI of the party's activities about six months after joining the Civil Rights Congress.

"I began to see a conspiracy in the Communist party. I went to the FBI and told them what I had seen and heard and been taught, thinking the organization was confined to the city of Cleveland," she recalled.

After talking with the FBI, Mrs. Brown said, she became inactive in the party.

"I was asked to go back (to the party) in 1951 as an undercover agent for the FBI. I remained a member for nine years."

Engineering and Science at IBM

"You're treated like a professional right from the start."

"The attitude here is, if you're good enough to be hired, you're good enough to be turned loose on a project," says Don Feistamel.

Don earned a B.S.E.E. in 1965. Today, he's an Associate Engineer in systems design and evaluation at IBM. Most of his work consists of determining modifications needed to make complex data processing systems fit the specialized requirements of IBM customers.

Depending on the size of the project, Don works individually or in a small team. He's now working with three other engineers on part of an air traffic control system that will process radar information by computer. Says Don: "There are only general guidelines. The assignment is simply to come up with the optimum system."

Set your own pace

Recently he wrote a simulation program that enables an IBM computer to predict the performance of a data processing system that will track satellites. He handled that project himself. "Nobody stands over my shoulder," Don says. "I pretty much set my own pace."

Don's informal working environment is typical of Engineering and Science at IBM. No matter how large the project, we break it down into units small enough to be handled by one person or a few people.

Don sees a lot of possibilities for the future. He says, "My job requires that I keep up to date with all the latest IBM equipment and systems programs. With that broad an outlook, I can move into almost any technical area at IBM—development, manufacturing, product test, space and defense projects, programming or marketing."

Demonstrators Disrupt Campuses Across The Nation

By The Associated Press

Student demonstrators disrupted campuses across the country Thursday, with violence breaking out at three schools.

More than 30 persons were arrested at the University of California at Berkeley after clashes between police and student strikers and their sympathizers.

Tear gas and bared bayonets were used by police and National Guardsmen at the University of Wisconsin at Madison to control roving bands of demonstrators who ranged in number from 500 to 3,000.

And police fired tear gas canisters at Duke University students in Durham, N.C., in a demonstration that followed the 12-hour occupation of the administration building by about 30 to 40 black students. The students left the building quietly after administration officials warned them they would be suspended—but they refused to leave the area.

A Duke spokesman said rebellious black students had told officials they had kerosene with them and would use it to burn records unless their demands were met.

The students say they want a black studies program controlled by black students, a black dormitory, reinstatement of black students who flunked out last semester and a black adviser elected by black students.

Later police and state troopers fired tear gas at the student demonstrators and were answered by a barrage of rocks and empty gas canisters in a melee that lasted more than two hours before quiet was restored.

Four city officers and a state trooper were known to have been injured, along with at least 20 students. Several demonstrators were taken into custody, but it was not known if they were charged.

Gov. Bob Scott ordered 500 National Guardsmen to Durham, but their commander said they would not go onto the campus unless needed. The troops were billeted at an armory two miles away.

The trouble at Wisconsin marked the fourth straight day of a boycott organized by black students.

The violence at Berkeley broke out after police cleared a campus entrance of demonstrators participating in the student strike led by the Third World Liberation Front. Because of the strike, Gov. Ronald Reagan declared a "state of extreme emergency" at the 28,000-student campus last week.

In New York, about 100 City College students invaded the school's administration building and occupied two floors of offices for 4½ hours to press demands of black and Puerto Rican students. One demand was for a separate school of black and Puerto Rican studies.

About 400 students at the University of Chicago announced they had voted against ending their occupation of the administration building immediately. The occupation was in its 15th day. The university suspended 22 demonstrators, bringing the total suspended to 80.

Picketing resumed on the sprawling, 33,000-student Wisconsin campus Thursday morning after Gov. Warren P. Knowles told a news conference that the disorders there, and on campuses from coast to coast, were being run "by someone who has different ideologies than we have."

Knowles ordered 900 National Guardsmen to the school Wednesday night after three straight days of disturbances stemming from a classroom boycott. The outbreak followed 13 demands by black students, among them creation of a separate black studies department.

Was 'Maine Chance' Really Sold?

The Associated Press

For nearly 13 days of testimony, witnesses in a U.S. District Court trial have been referring to the sale of Maine Chance Farm. Now, it is revealed, there was no such sale.

Robert Odear, one of the lawyers involved in the $30 million anti-trust suit, made the revelation as the 13th day of testimony was drawing to a close.

When the estate of Elizabeth Arden Graham sold the farm to the UK Research Foundation in 1967, he asked a witness, was the name "Maine Chance" sold with it? Not at all, replied J. Howard Carter, a co-executor of Mrs. Graham's estate and a New York attorney.

Carter explained that the name "Maine Chance" is shared by two farms owned by the Arden estate. These are facilities where women go for beauty treatments.

"Is the name 'Maine Chance' considered a valuable asset by the estate?" Odear asked.

"Yes it is very valuable," Carter replied.

"Would it have been sold with the farm?"

"Not at all."

Carter was one of a series of witnesses brought by the Bank of New York, a defendant in the anti-trust suit along with the Keeneland Association and the UK Research Foundation.

Another Bank of New York witness hinted to the jury that the bid submitted by Ellsworth and Pessin may have been lost in the mail. It arrived in New York too late for consideration.

By the time the Pessin-Ellsworth bid arrived in New York, the jury has been told, the farm already had been sold to the UK Foundation for $2 million.

SAE, Blue Tide Win In Semifinals

By CHIP HUTCHESON
AND CHUCK RATLIFF

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, on the free-throw shooting of Scotty Wilson, won an overtime decision from the Nads, 37-36, in the semifinals of the All-Campus Intramural Basketball Tournament.

SAE piled up a 5-0 lead, but the Nads blasted back on the shooting of Lowell Watson and Donnie Tucker to go ahead 12-11 as the half ended. It was nip-and-tuck the rest of the way.

With the Nads ahead 17-16, Jeff Kerr hit two free-throws, but the official scorer and the referees couldn't remember seeing him hit one of them, so SAE was denied one point.

Wilson scored on a layup to even the game at 22-22. Dave Upchurch hit a free-throw and Donnie Tucker connected on a 20-foot jump shot to put Nads ahead 25-22 with 1:55 left.

Keith Simmons and Wilson each hit two free-throws to give SAE a 26-25 margin.

The Nads looked like they had the game won when Jim Crouse scored and was fouled on the play. His free-throw attempt was tipped in by Watson. Upchurch then hit a free throw to put Nads ahead, 30-26.

Wilson Hits At 2 Seconds

But Wilson scored a field goal.

SAE gained possession on a floor mistake with nine seconds left in regulation, and Wilson was fouled with six seconds remaining.

On the bonus situation, Wilson connected on both.

In the overtime, Wilson scored the first three points by hitting a driving layup and hitting a free-throw.

Crouse hit two free-throws for the Nads, then Simmons came back with two gratis tosses and gave SAE a 35-32 lead. Watson hit a field goal to put the Nads within one point.

With 52 seconds left in overtime, Jim Richardson went to the line on the one-plus-one. He made the shot, but it was disallowed when he stepped on the line too soon. Watson quickly hit a turn-around jumper.

With 11 seconds left, Wilson took an inbounds pass and was fouled with two seconds to go. He calmly sank both tosses on the bonus to give SAE a 37-36 win and a berth in the finals Tuesday.

Wilson had high-point honors for SAE with 13 points, seven of them from the free-throw line. Simmons scored nine, Jeff Kerr had seven and Steve Graves and Greg Williamson each finished with four points.

Watson took game honors with 14 points for the Nads. Tucker tossed in eight points, Upchurch, Crouse and Doyle Claywell each had four and Glenn Kelly had two.

Blue Tide Wins 39-32

The Blue Tide, featuring a balanced scoring attack, pulled away from a stubborn Moreland Raiders team in the second half to capture a berth in the final round of the All-Campus Intramural Basketball Tournament with a 39-32 victory.

Led by 6-2 forward Jerry Burgess and 5-5 guard Steve Hilton, the Tide stretched a 16-15 half time margin into an eight point lead midway through the second half, and coasted from there for the semifinal win.

Burgess paced the Tide with nine points, Hilton added eight, Wayne Cooper tabbed six and Steve O'Connor had five.

Tight Squeeze

A tight squeeze it was as it took Sigma Alpha Epsilon an overtime to edge Nads, 37-36. The SAE's will play Blue Tide, winners over Moreland Raiders, for the campus championship.

UK Tracksters In Mason-Dixon Games

By LENNIE UNDERWOOD
Kernel Staff Writer

UK will be well represented in Saturday's ninth annual Mason-Dixon Games, featuring the nation's top track talent at Louisville's Freedom Hall.

UK coach Press Whelan, a former SEC track champion at UK, said, "The Mason-Dixon Games this year could be possibly the greatest indoor meet in the United States. It holds 10 of the indoor meet records."

"There are 23 Olympic medal winners entered which right away indicates a good field," Whelan said. "Our kids respond well in top competition mainly because they want to do so well. We also are young and are off to a better start this year since we've already broken 47 records."

"Jim will participate in the Knights of Columbus meet in Madison Square Garden Friday and fly to Louisville Saturday to run in the 70-yard dash in the games," Whelan said.

Green, who ran the 440 in 47.9 this fall, also will anchor UK's first mile relay team of the season. The team rounds out with junior Willard Keith and freshmen Barry Lints and Danny Parker.

"If the mile relay team performs well then there's a possibility they could participate in the remaining meets," Whelan added.

UK entrants in the mile run are senior Dan Dusch, sophomore Vic Nelson and freshman Don Weber.

In other events, UK sophomore Mike Stutland will participate in the triple jump and freshman Robby Rothfuss in the high jump.

Tom Johnson and David Hardt are UK shot put entries. Johnson threw the shot 54-4 in the Ohio Federation meet to break the record of 52-7 set by Hardt, also a UK football player.

"Johnson and Hart are potential 60-foot putters if they continue to work and improve," Whelan said.

Whelan concluded, "I think we're all pointing toward the Southeastern Conference championship in Montgomery, Ala."

SG Continues Debate Over Housing Policy

housemothers that anyone whose name appeared on the petition could not hope to get a job as dormitory corridor adviser.

He also said that Rosemary Pond, associate dean of students for residence halls, had tried to stop anyone from speaking in the doms about the boycott.

Juul said that Miss Pond "is an inefficient bureaucrat who threatens students. It's time to get rid of her."

Betty Jo Palmer, associate dean of students, came under similar criticism from Juul, who said she should be removed also.

Of Dean of Students Jack Hall, Juul said he "carries out threats against students" and "of all the bureaucrats at the University, he is the worst and should be gotten rid of."

Juul compared the University administration to a "fascist government" and said the only difference between dormitories and concentration camps had barbed wire fences.

Monty Hall, who opposed overriding the vetoes, told Juul that the persons he should have consulted on the housing issue were Mrs. Jean Lindley, housing office administrator, James O. King of Auxiliary Services, and Acting President A.D. Kirwan.

Look Editor

By JEANNIE LEEDOM
Kernel Staff Writer

The editor of Look magazine said here Thursday night, "The year 1968 was a year of crises; I do not mean by that chaos, defeat, war—I mean a turning point . . . which could lead to a better or a worse era."

William B. Arthur, a UK graduate, and honored guest at Sigma Delta Chi's initiation banquet said last year's crises could be "a beginning or an ending." He added, "The point where beginning and ending cannot be distinguished is the danger point."

Arthur, in addition to his Look magazine duties, also is national president of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism society for men.

Of journalists, Arthur noted they are increasingly coming under public criticism and that a "credibility gap" exists between newsmen and the public.

Relating the biblical parable of the tares (weeds), Arthur used it to make a point to the assembled journalists:

"The credibility gap is here—we see it everyday. We should pull out the weeds to see the truth. But we have to pull out the weeds without destroying the wheat."

SG member Joe Dawahare said students should go to Juul's sources and "find out the facts for themselves before they believed him."

"I would like to urge students to hear both sides of the story," Dawahare said. Headed that SG should listen to both sides also "so we can reflect student opinion and not cram ideology down their throats."

SG Vice President Tim Futrell told the assembly, "If Juul has the proof behind the allegations against the administration, he should take them to Dr. A.D. Kirwan and the Board of Trustees. If he doesn't have proof, I suggest he shut up."

Jim Gwinn also defended Bryan's vetoes. He said the five-part statement in the SG bill could not replace the board's policy statement because it left out the intention of the policy statement.

Juul replied, "The students at this University are third-rate citizens and there is no second-class. They are being forced to fill a gap that the administration made. The University is holding the students responsible for the $23 million Complex and the $3 million shrubbery around it."

After the motion to override the veto of the policy statement clause was defeated, Speaker of the Assembly Steve Bright said, "Last semester this assembly passed a bill that asked that the policy statement be rescinded by a vote of 23-0. Last week this bill passed by a vote of 16-6. I can't believe we've changed our minds that much."

Juul said, "The members of this assembly are not about to stick their necks out for fear of the administration. The administration has won another victory here tonight. After we castrate this bill, it will be the same thing we've passed before."

The assembly has passed nine other bills and resolutions opposed to the forced housing policy.

The question then moved to Bryan's veto of the boycott clauses.

Jim Gwinn told the assembly that the boycott would have an adverse effect because students would lose their priority in choice of doms and roommates. He added that it would not affect the housing office because they would be using computers to process the applications.

Robert Duncan replied to Gwinn's argument, saying, "If nobody turns in their applications there will be no priority because there will be no one before you."

The motion to override this veto also failed for lack of a two-thirds majority.

Following the meeting, Thom Pat Juul told the Kernel that he wished to remind everyone that the motions to override the vetoes had a majority vote but not the necessary two-thirds.

"A majority still approves the clauses," he said. "A minority stopped them."

CARSA To Protest Again

Grapes Are Back At A&P

California table grapes are back on sale at local A&P supermarkets, and CARSA members say they will protest sale of the grapes for the second time Saturday.

CARSA members distributed antigrape leaflets at the five Lexington A&P markets last Saturday, and two of the five stores removed the California grapes from their shelves.

"Apparently the removal of the grapes last Saturday was merely an attempt at pacification," CARSA member Graham Watkins told the Kernel.

CARSA is attempting to end the sale of California grapes locally and on campus in support of the nationwide boycott of the grapes. The boycott is a move to support striking grape-pickers.

Watkins and another CARSA member, Marty Paich, said CARSA will again leaflet the A&P stores Saturday. They added that the group will travel "en masse" to discourage "violence."

CARSA members were attacked during last Saturday's activity by unidentified men, but there were no injuries.

Mrs. Brown Says CORE Is Rotten With Communists

"In 1962 I testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee for three and a half days and named 100 of the hundreds of people I knew to be members of the Communist party," Mrs. Brown said.

The former Communist party member said, "The teachings of my mother and father allowed me to see it was a conspiracy. 'God and country are the same' was my family upbringing."

Concerning a question about black power, she said "Black power, I don't care anything about. God power is the only kind."

When a black student asked what she (the student) could do since she didn't have a "Christian upbringing," Mrs. Brown replied:

"Bless your heart. If God was not present in your home, it's going to be pretty tough. If you really and truly want to recognize Communism, write J. Edgar Hoover—the greatest man on earth."

"If you want to find how much of the civil rights organization is exploited by the Communist party, you ought to write J. Edgar Hoover."

She told the students laughing at her reference to J. Edgar Hoover, "You have been brainwashed by the Communists, no doubt."

Asked if she knew of any Communist organizations in Kentucky, Mrs. Brown noted this was her first visit to Lexington, "but I'm sure there are many here. The SDS is loaded with Communists and malcontents, the W. E. B. DuBois club is Communist and CORE (Congress of Racial Equality) is rotten to the core."

"All over the U.S. it's the same old conspiracy."

Many students gasped when Mrs. Brown commented that "President Johnson has done more to aid Communism in the U.S. than any other president."

"Any time you are not against something you are aiding it. We never had any president more sympathetic to the Communists than Johnson."

Mrs. Brown admitted there is a need for better opportunities for Blacks. But when asked what a black student at UK should do when he cannot rent an apartment near campus, she said:

"I wouldn't want anything a white man had if he didn't want me to have it."

She added it was a matter of "dignity and self respect."

"There are some loyal Americans," she noted, "who don't demand but ask and negotiate."

She said she never called Dr. Martin Luther King a Communist. "If you call anyone a Communist without having been to a Communist meeting with him, you can be fined a hundred dollars," she added.

But Mrs. Brown said she had "documented proof" that Dr. King was trained in "a Communist school."

In all honesty...

We deliberate long and hard

You see, the job application processing system used by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways is thorough. It has to be. We are looking for top Civil Engineers who are capable of growing rapidly through the challenges of Pennsylvania's fast-paced $10 billion highway expansion program. A snap decision on our part could be costly.

So, a lot of Men who apply for posts open in Civil Engineering, grow impatient with us and withdraw... several Engineers with great potential wait... and we discover they are skilled, intellectually aggressive, competent, and have personal vision. If you fall into the latter category, we will be proud to accept your application.
